Next Bloodmobile Visit Due Here In Early September

ELIGIBILITY PLAN ADOPTED BY REGION

The news that the Regional Executive Board has abandoned the total coverage system in favor of an eligibility plan should come as no surprise to our participating Chapters. There have been repeated warnings that this was bound to happen because too many Chapters have taken a "let George do it" attitude (see March, 1961 Artery).

We can assure each of our thirty six Chapters that the Board studied this problem long and hard before making a final decision, and we believe every chapter will have to admit that the plan adopted is the fairest possible to all concerned.

For years the responsibility of collecting blood has weighed heavily on the shoulders of a relatively few faithful workers. The Board now feels it is time that the responsibility be lifted from the tired shoulders of these few and placed squarely where it blongs - on the general public. A disinterested public means a second-rate Blood Program. A properly aroused and informed public can mean a first class Blood Program with everyone sharing the work-load, daily meeting the tremendous responsibility of providing enough blood and blood derivatives for all who are in need.

THE PLAIN IN BRIEF

New Quota System. The basis of establishing a chapter's quota will no longer be population, but USAGE. The Center keeps an accurate record of the usage of each Chapters residents (both in own and other hospitals). Your Chapter's quota will be your usage percentage applied to the total blood needs for the year. (Here's an actual example: Washington County residents used last year 1.75% of the total number of bloods used in our region. Therefore, Washington County's quota will be 1.75% of the region's total blood needs for the year - in this case 30,500. 1.75% of this figure is 534. Therefore, Washington County has been taking eleven visits and supplying a lot of blood which benefited other chapters failing to make their quotas.) With this system each chapter provides usage for its own residents plus the extra blood needed for fractionation (blood crivatives) and government hospitals.

NEW CREDITING SYSTEM. The new plan calls for crediting on September 8th next visit made by all its residents, regardless of where on the region those donations are made. The Chapter sponsoring the bloodmobile visit will receive credit for donations made by all its own residents plus all donations made by out-of-region residents will be creditted to their own home Chapters. (Home Chapter will be recorded on the history card)

TOTAL COVERAGE CHAPTERS Each Chapter which meets 100% of its quota gets total quota for any bloodmobile visit, that Chapter is given a period of "grace" (until the Chapter's next blood-mobile visit) to make up the deficit. (Example: A Chapter has quota of 125 but collects only 100- a deficit of 25. This means that this Chapter must collect quota plus deficit (25) at the nex bloodmobile visit or lose total coverage.)

WHAT HAPPENS IF CHAPTER FAILS? Failing to make quota plus deficit the chapter then loses its "out-of-region" privilege. That is the needs of their Chapter's residents who are hospitalized in out-of-region hospitals will not be met. (As soon as the Chapter wipes out the deflict, total coverage is automatically restored)

CENTENNIAL EVENT

Washington, D. C.- The National Civil War Centennial Commission's efforts to give proper tribute to those most responsible for the present nationwide commemoration of progress since last January, will turn the spotlight on Hagerstown, Maryland on September 3.

Ceremonies on that date in this town that was visited by armies of both the North and the South in that war a century ago, will be climaxed by presentation of the Commission's first honorary chairman, former President Eisenhower, of its highest accolade, the Centennial Gold Medallion.

The presentation will take place in the public square and will be followed by a re-dedication of a Confederate cemetery in the town that has been improved greatly by the Maryland Centennial Commission as a part of its commemorative activities. A parade and other highlights will be included on the program.

KNOW the WEATHER

BY E. H. SIMS

Is swell caused by the wind? Is it a wave? Does is parollel the wind in a hurricane?

Swell is caused by a strong weather disturbance, which usually features strong winds, but swell is not a direct product of wind as are waves.

And swell does not follow the course of a hurricane's winds. It will eminate from the center of the disturbance, often at a greater speed than the disturbance is moving always moving away from the center of the storm.

If one will follow the direction of swell, he will be running away from the center of a storm. If he seeks the source, he might be in trouble. Swell is harder to detect than waves and is the cause for most "seasickness."

But old-times sailors can quickly spot which way the ocean is "running" and often predict coming events, by watching swell.
